About Wong Wing Tong

Wong Wing Tong (b.1983, Hong Kong) graduated from RMIT University (co-presented with Hong Kong Art School) with a BFA in Fine Art (Painting) in 2008. Influenced by Hong Kong's renowned avant-garde Hong Kong artist Kwok Mang Ho, also known as Frog King as his mentor, Wong is always strongly and creatively expressive in applying a wide range of medium in art from paintings to sculpture, from installation to performance. He has a natural instinct and talent in using materials on top of his traditional well-trained techniques. In 2011 he was assisting Frog King as artist assistant at Venice Biennial, and gained valuable art practice experience.

Wong has participated in many group exhibitions in Hong Kong and China. He has also participated in various stage installation and mural painting art projects in the past. Currently working as a community artist in Hong Kong, he collaborates with many local residents, independent artists and organizations, and contributes to local society, traditional crafts and culture. He is a passionate and devoted artist who has a strong sense of belonging to his home city.
